

Speaker Introduction

Our speaker today refused to eat until she learned how to tie her shoes when she was two years old.

That strong-will and determination have helped her not only survive, but thrive despite the many curve-balls thrown her way.

She is a successful entrepreneur, author and expert in organizational communication. She works with organizations around the globe providing practical, down-to-earth strategies to improve relationships, increase productivity and reduce stress. And she does it with the refreshing humor and honesty she's become known for.

Prepare to be inspired, entertained and empowered! Please join me in welcoming our speaker, expert shoe tie(er), and the best-selling author ... Anne Grady!
